Machine learning is a branch of artificial intelligence that enables computers to learn from data and imp
Supervised learning uses labelled examples to train a model
Unsupervised learning finds hidden patterns in unlabelled data.